16. Abstract

Some alcohol-related crashes may be caused by motorists who drive after drinking because arranging for alternative transportation is too difficult or inconvenient (a sober friend may not be available to drive the motorist home, the motorist may be reluctant to leave his or her car unattended, etc.).

This Directory lists 325 Ride Service Programs from 44 states and the District of Columbia that provide intoxicated drivers with a safe alternative ride home. Many of the entries summarize key program features such as who sponsors the program, whether the program operates on holidays versus year-round, whether the rider's car is transported, and the type of transport used (cab, bus, tow truck, etc.). All the entries provide the information needed to contact program spokespeople for additional information.

Over 500 leads were collected from various sources, however, entries are restricted to those programs for which information could be verified by contacting program personnel directly. Information is provided on how Ride Service personnel can advise NHTSA of program changes, new programs, or programs that were unintentionally omitted. The introduction describes two other reports being prepared under this contract: a technical research report, and a report directed at state and local planners that provides an overview of all the programs in this Directory and describes some of them in detail.

IV

INTRODUCTION

Alcohol-related auto crashes have been and continue to be one of the nation's most serious traffic safety problems; for example, approximately one half of driver fatalities are alcohol-related. Part of this problem appears to be caused by motorists who drive after drinking because they find it inconvenient or difficult to get home without driving. They may be unable to find a sober friend to drive them home, a friend may have logistical problems transporting the driver, the drinker may be reluctant to leave his car unattended, and so on.

Ride Service Programs provide intoxicated drivers with a safe alternative ride home. Preliminary information available to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) indicated that there are many Ride Service Programs, that they operate in many states, and that they use a variety of approaches. Some function only during special occasions such as prom night or New Year's Eve, while others operate more frequently, sometimes everyday. Some Ride Service Programs transport only the drinker, while others also transport the drinker's vehicle. Some services are free; others charge fees. Some target specific groups such as teenagers, while others serve broader populations. The type of transportation used also varies and includes taxis, buses, private vehicles, and tow trucks.

In order to learn more about these programs, in May of 1986, NHTSA awarded a contract to Harold Russell Associates, Inc. to identify and collect data on Ride Service Programs. Findings from this study would provide state and local planners with information about the types of programs that have been implemented, how they operate, the resources they require, the problems they encounter, etc.

This Directory of Ride Service Programs is one product of the study. It lists 325 programs from 44 states and the District of Columbia. Many entries summarize key features of the program (when it operates, what type of transportation is used, etc.) and provide the information needed to contact a spokesperson who can supply additional information. Other entries are limited to contact information, but refer the reader to a similar program for which information on key features is listed. Readers may also wish to examine two other products of the study that are in preparation. A report on Ride Service Programs, directed at state and local planners, will present findings which apply to all the programs in this Directory, discuss findings about subgroup of 52 programs on which more complete data were collected and present detailed descriptions of several programs which the investigators visited. A final technical report, "The Assessment of Ride Service Programs as an Alcohol Countermeasure," will provide a more comprehensive discussion of the study's methods and findings.

Collecting data for the Directory involved two steps. First, approximately 515 leads to programs were obtained from several sources including newspaper articles, NHTSA personnel in Washington, D.C. and in the ten NHTSA regions, spokespeople for state and national trade organizations, researchers in highway safety, and ride service program personnel. Second, programs were contacted directly. The type of contact varied. For the subgroup of 52 programs that were studied more intensively, data were collected through in-depth telephone conversations, site visits and/or (in a few cases) written inquiries. Some "parent" programs serve as models for affiliated programs, referred to here as "offspring". Basic contact information (such as the program sponsor, a phone number for the program, the name of a spokesperson) on these offspring was obtained in written form from the relevant parent program. Finally, brief telephone conversations were held with many programs.

We were unable to verify information for all of the leads. In some cases, phone calls were made repeatedly without success; in others, we did not have enough information (accurate telephone number, name of the program, correct address, etc.) to contact the program. Only those programs that were contacted and those offspring on which we obtained written information from a parent program are included in the Directory.

The Directory also omits other programs. From the outset, we focused on only those Ride Service Programs that are advertised and are therefore easily accessed by potential users. This rule excluded the many serving establishments that occasionally offer rides to some patrons, but do not advertise this service to all their patrons.

The last pages of the Directory instruct Ride Service Program personnel concerning how they can notify NHTSA that a program listed in the Directory has changed, that their program was omitted from the Directory, or that they are beginning a program. Depending upon the availability of resources and public response to the Directory, the Directory may be updated and, if so, information provided to NHTSA by Ride Service Program personnel will be used to facilitate preparation of a revised edition.

HOW TO USE THIS DIRECTORY

For those readers who may be interested in learning about nearby Ride Service Programs, the entries are organized alphabetically by state (see "Program Listing By State" beginning on page 8). Within each state, programs are listed alphabetically by name (if a program name was not available, the entry was alphabetized by the name of the program sponsor.) The states for which programs are entered and the page numbers on which listings begin for each state appear in the Table of Contents on page v. In addition, the states are identified by headers in the top right hand corner of each page in the "Program Listing By State" section of the Directory (see page 8).

For readers interested in learning about Ride Service Programs with particular features, an "Index of Selected Program Characteristics" is included on page 233. Programs are indexed by such characteristics as the type of sponsor (cab companies, bus companies, hospitals, etc.), the target population (adults only, youth only, both adults and youth), when the program operates (occasional versus year-round, etc,), and type of transport (cabs, tow trucks, buses, privately owned vehicles, etc.).

The entries under each program are intended to be largely self-explanatory, however, several issues should be clarified here.

"Parent" Programs and "Offspring"

The first issue concerns how listings are handled for "parent" programs and their "offspring". Some programs serve as a model or "parent" program, on which other "offspring" programs are based. For example, CareCab is a Ride Service Program which is operated by many CareUnit Hospitals across the country. Full information about the CareCab program was entered only for the "parent" program, under the state (California) in which it is located (see page 16). More limited contact information on the other CareCab sites appears under the state in which these "offspring" are located (see for example page 12).

Parent programs are identified in parentheses immediately after the program name; an example appears on page 16. In order to set them apart, offspring are always the last entries which appear for a state, and the listing of offspring is demarked by a change in the page header from the name of the state to "OFFSPRING PROGRAMS IN [state]".

Multiple Approaches by a Single Program

The second issue that requires clarification concerns situations in which a single sponsor/organization operates two or more types of Ride Service Programs. For example, a local chapter of Students Against Drunk Driving, may support two distinct types of programs: (1) "Contract for Life" for high school students which is (in part) an agreement that parents will transport students if they are too intoxicated to drive safely, and (2) "SafeRide" programs which involve the use of a central telephone number that students or others call to obtain rides from volunteer drivers. Because these two approaches differ, they are listed as separate entries. However, each entry refers to the other by name and page number under the heading "Program Name".

Treatment of Missing Data

Some information was not available for some programs, or the information was unclear. When this occurred "No Data" was entered for the appropriate item.

The Format For Entries

The basic format used for the entries appears below. The left column contains the informational headings and, as necessary, the right column clarifies the type of information recorded. (Entries for offspring are limited to the the first 7 items below, and have an extra item, "NAME AND LOCATION OF PARENT PROGRAM" so the reader can look up additional information elsewhere in the Directory.)

PROGRAM NAME:
PROGRAM SPONSOR:	This item indicates the primary organization responsible for operating the program.
ADDRESS:	The address of the sponsoring organization.
PHONE NUMBER:	The telephone number of the sponsoring organization.
SPOKESPERSON'S NAME:
SPOKESPERSON'S POSITION:

CURRENTLY OPERATING:	The possible responses are "Yes and "No". "No" indicates that the program is no longer in operation. The decision to include these defunct programs was based on the assumption that some readers would be interested in contacting former program personnel about the kinds of problems they encountered.
WHEN IN OPERATION:	The possible responses are "Occasional" and "Year-round". "Occasional" refers to programs which operate only on special occasions, such as New Year's Eve or during school graduations. "Year-round" programs operate more frequently, though not necessarily every day nor all year. Some year-round programs, for example, operate only during the school year, some only on weekends, and so on.
HOURS/DAYS OPERATION:	When hours vary with the day or days, this is indicated. "Christmas - New Year's" indicates the program operates during the year-end holiday season. "Special events" indicates the program operates during celebrations not otherwise specified, such as during an anniversary dance.
NATIONWIDE/REGIONAL/LOCAL PROGRAM:	This item indicates the geographic scope of the program. "Nationwide" was defined as a program which operates in noncontiguous locations in two or more states. "Regional" was defined as a program which operates in several locations within one state, or in two or more contiguous cities or counties across more than one state. "Local" was defined as a program operating in a single city or county.

PROFIT/NON-PROFIT:	This item indicates whether the Ride Service Program is operated for profit. Note that it is possible for a profit making sponsor to operate a program for no profit.
RIDER'S VEHICLE TRANSPORTED:	The possible responses are "Yes" and "No". This item indicates whether the rider's vehicle is transported as well as the rider.
HOW RIDER IS TRANSPORTED:	This item indicates the type of transportation provided to the user of the service: cabs, buses, tow trucks, limousines, donated vehicles, private vehicles, or organization's vehicle. "Donated Vehicles" refers to vehicles which are donated to the ride program (e.g. a local car distributor donates vehicles to be used for the duration of a holiday ride program). "Privately owned vehicle" refers to vehicles which are privately owned by individuals who permit their vehicles to be used by the program (e.g., family cars are used by drivers of some safe ride programs). "Organization's vehicle" refers to a generic vehicle (i.e., not a bus, cab, etc.) owned by the organization conducting the program.
WHO DRIVES VEHICLE(S):	This item indicates who drives the rider home. If the rider's vehicle is also transported, the type of driver (e.g., cab driver) for that vehicle is also indicated.

COST TO RIDER:	The possible entries are "Free", "Pays in Entirety" and "Pays Partial Fee".
TARGET YOUTH ONLY; ADULTS ONLY OR BOTH:	This item describes the population the program serves. "Youth" is defined as being below the legal drinking age.
HOW ABOVE DATA COLLECTED:	Data were collected in one or more ways. "Brief Telephone Contacts" lasted about 15 minutes. "In-depth Telephone Contacts" lasted approximately 45 minutes. "In-depth Written Contact" refers to lengthy written responses to inquiries by program personnel. "Site Visit" indicates that following an In-depth Telephone Contact, the program was visited by one of the principal investigators. For offspring programs, the entry "parent program" indicates that the parent program provided the data (in some cases the entry for an offspring indicates the data were obtained from one of the sources indicated above).

INDEX OF SELECTED PROGRAM CHARACTERISTICS

Page numbers which are underlined refer to Ride Service Programs which are not offspring and are currently in operation. Page numbers which are in parentheses refer to Ride Service Programs which are not offspring, but are no longer in operation. Page numbers which appear in normal type face refer to Ride Service Programs which are offspring. (For a discussion of "offspring" see How To Use This Directory page 3.)

Area served (Because offspring programs are part of a larger network, they are entered under nationwide rather than under local.)
